Huns driven across the Marne
by Franco-American drive.

The Huns will have cause to remember the Marne, being twice smashed across

"The American army must be armed and equipped," wrote Gen von Ardenne in the Berlin Tageblatt on July 8.

A few days later the Sammies smashed the German offensive on the Marne, and put the Huns
on the run.

Judgment of court on the valid ity of the orders-in-council causes much relief in official circles.

And on the habeas corpus a kink in the tummy.

Since the accident last week,

citizens should pay their store bills, or not.

Breaking in the Walls

The walls that Germany has erected to protect herself against the allies are being broken in.

Italy smashed in one of them and will not stop until it has levelled all the barriers that lie between her and the heart of Austria.

And this last big drive by the Franco-American armies, which has nearly turned the Crown Prince's huge army into a route, has smashed Germany's whole western programme, and has to be re-adjusted, which will take time—and that time may not be given them by Foch.

Japan may be the next one of the great allies to make a smashing attack on one of the walls of Germany. She may advance in Siberia soon with such force and with such allied help as will make short work of any opposition to a triumphant march across Asia to the borders of Germany.

Indication have been, many of late that such action on the part of Japan is maturing fast.

The time is ripe for it. The stage is almost set for it. The reasons for withholding her hands are growing very rapidly less.

When the proper moment arrives that moment will see going from the east such an army that Germany may easily see its defeat rapidly approaching.

When that army from the far east starts, when it nears the German border or the portions of Russia now held by Germany, that moment may be the auspicious one for launching a great allied drive on the western front.

In such a drive America will have big army. It has now over a million men in France, and is growing larger every day.

With France's large army on the western front, with England's large army on the western front, and with the quite goodly sized fighting units of Portuguese and Italian troops which are also brigaded with the French and British armies on the western front, it should be certainly that when the great offensive by the allies starts it will not be stopped until a great victory is won.

The Crown Prince has been making frantic efforts to get to Paris.

He'll get there—by the help of the Allies—as a prisoner of war.

Everybody is striking these days—except the farmer.

And then along comes the weather man and strikes him a smashing blow in the tummy.

The Huns were rushing on to gay Paree.

And now they are rushing back to Berlin—if the Allies will let them.

A Very Serious Charge

Nearly a Fatal Tragedy Near Chinook

On the charge of having attempted to commit murder, Andy Simon, of Chinook, was committed for trial by higher court before N. J. Hewitt, J. P., of Chinook. The alleged assault was made on Fred Rutherford and the affair took place at the farm of Mary Robinson, out of Chinook.

According to the testimony of Mrs. Robinson and Rutherford,
Simon came to the farm July 18th and insisted for the settlement for a note he signed for the woman's husband about six years ago. He returned on horseback in the afternoon and went after Rutherford with a shotgun.
Rutherford grabbed the gun just as it was discharged, and the charge whizzed by his head. He then dragged Simon from his horse and forced him to say that "he had had enough." Simon was held until Constable Wm.
Carstairs, of the provincial police arrived and took him in charge.

A decision of the Hail Board, vitaly affecting the farmers of this district, has just been handed out. It is to the effect that any farmer may amend his crop report by making statutory declaration as to the condition of his crop on July 25th. These declarations must be handed in to the Secretary-Treasurer of the municipality and by him laid before the Municipal council. The Council will recommend the acceptance or rejection of each declaration and this will be regarded by the Hail Board as final.

A Quick Change

A change of some 50 degrees or more in the weather in a day day or two is certainly going some—and that's what occurred in Alberta a few days ago—from a tropical clime to Iceland.

Locally, the frost did damage to the light garden stuff, to a less or more degree. It is also reported that the grain crop suffered,
but most of it escaped.

What with the drought and now the frost, the farmer is sure having hard luck

The rains of the past week, in the area fortunate enough to be visited by the copious showers, will greatly help the crops, except, of course, in places where the long drought and the hot sun and winds have completely killed out—and will also considerably help the feed, which was assuming a very serious aspect for the stock.

If from now on everything continues to keep favorable, there promises to be some very fair crops around here—much better than it was anticipated two or three weeks ago.

Spare That Straw Stack

In view of the very serious situation developing in Alberta and Saskatchewan so far as feed for live stock is concerned, particularly for next winter, an order-in-Council has been passed prohibiting the burning of all straw-stacks remaining over from last year in the three prairie provinces. This action is taken under the War Measure Act.

Skippers Make Fortunes

Few men have profited more by the war than the skippers and trawlers sailing out of Hull.

One skipper netted $75,000 in two years, and another has received $40,000 a year since the war began.

They have earned all they have received," said a member of a local firm of trawler owners, referring to the present perils of the North Sea.

Some of the skippers have retired on the strength of the fortunes they have made. Others have bought costly mansions, and one a house in Brighthelm.

Evidence Crops Up Every Day

THAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ALWAYS HELP KIDNEY DISEASE

Quebec Man Who Suffered From a Runaway System and Kidney Disease Finds Quick Relief.

Migushita Point, Que. (Special).—More evidence crops up in this vicinity every day to prove that for arduous people there is no remedy to equal Dodd's Kidney Pills. Among the many who have come forward with statements is Mr. Paul Landry, a well-known resident, whose testimony can easily be corroborated.

"It is with great pleasure that I write to tell you your Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best medicine that I have ever taken," Mr. Landry states. "When I commenced to take them there was not much hope for me. After taking four boxes I felt like myself again. I advise all persons who suffer from kidney disease to take Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are popular all over this country, because they not only cure the pains and aches of the different diseases springing from disordered kidneys, but also give new life and energy all over the body. They do this naturally. They cure the kidneys. Cured kidneys strain all the impurities out of the blood, and the pure blood carries nutrient instead of poison to the nerves and muscles. You have never heard of a person Dodd's Kidney Pills harmed. You hear of thousands who have benefited by them.

Fighting In the Holy Land

Position Were Rushed in Daring Cavalry Charge

It was at Mahadethadiah, where the baptism of Christ is said to have taken place, that the British army forced a passage of the River Jordan after a brisk engagement with the Turks and a number of German men in the night of March 21.

The crossing was attempted at three spots. The average breadth of the Jordan is thirty yards and even in the driest season the water flows are never less than three and a half to four feet deep. Both banks are lined with a thick jungle called by the Arabs "Ezoz," and is the haunt of wild boar. It is traversed by very few tracks leading to the ford.

At two of the fords even men on horseback were unable to breast the strong current, while rafts and pontoons were swept away. The Turks, alive to the fact that the crossing was being attempted, set fire to a number of rafts on their side of the bank, which lit up the waters all night with brightness of daylight, revealing with directedness the men venturing from cover in the thickets in Mahadethadiah. There the river was a straight run and the current is consequently less swift. Seven volunteers succeeded in swimming to the other bank with a rope, by means of which a pontoon was pulled over, serving as a ferry for a sufficient force.

The British crossed the strong bridgehead before dawn. The Turks were not very numerous, but were plentifully supplied with machine guns, while the ground lent itself to defence. Beyond the belt of scrub through which it was necessary to cut one's way was a bare open space about five hundred yards wide and then a series of ledges, where the Turks were entrenched in trenches with a perfect field for fire in front of them. During daylight it was impossible.

After dusk the British rushed the Turkish positions. A steel pontoon bridge was constructed which, crossed most gallantly, was fired by cavalry, which promptly made an end to the Turkish resistance, capturing the machine guns and capturing three Maxim and seventy prisoners.

Wheeling to the left, the troops crossed the opposite bank of the Ghazirah, and soon the infantry was pushing across, following close on the heels of the Turks, who made another stand at Shunetimin, across the old caravan road leading to Es Salt.

There the troops were among the foothills of the mountains of Gilead, Jordan plain. It was a short struggle, and the position was rushed, thirty-five prisoners, all Germans, falling into British hands, as well as four guns of which the teams were shot down by Lewis guns. Then the troops rushed toward Es Salt, which was entered early in the morning. Es Salt is the centre of an important grain region, which furnished the main supply for Jerusalem in the days of the Turks. It is now again available.

The War and the Child

Killed by a Flying Fragment From a Stray German Shell

Here is just one small war story of a child that will stick in the memory of any who read it. A lively little boy was busy helping his grandfather in the cottage garden happy in the safety of some miles behind the fighting front. He was great pal—one of those intimate companionships of childhood and age. A church army travelling van, "old bun shop," came to a halt outside the garden gate.

With his legs astraddle, and his chubby hands on his hips the little fellow, welcome at the driver's and so did smiling, being killed at that moment by a flying fragment from a stray German shell.

The church army worker—picked up the small, broken body from the lower patch into which it had been flung. But the boy was dead; and he could find no words and no touch to stay the sobbing of the old man by his side, whose work-worn fumbling hands sought pitiably for some sign of the joyful life that was gone.

War Barred Royal Guard

Specialized Chosen Giant Soldiers of King Victor Prevented From Taking Part in Battles

Among the most unhappy men in Italy are the 192 royal soldiers of the King's Guard who are not permitted to go to the front and fight their brothers. The reason for this restriction, that these six hundred men could probably not be replaced if killed, injured or taken prisoners. They are chosen with the utmost care, not only as regards their habits and training, but for their height, the minimum of which is six feet.

"They begin where other men stop growing," according to a popular saying. "Many of them are even seven feet high. They are chosen from the carabinieri, or military police, and must have absolutely no defects. Each newly enrolled man, if he accepts the appointment, must agree to remain for a term of five years in the Guard after which he may or may not re-enlist. During that period also he may not marry."

The Guards and their horses are quartered inside the grounds of the royal palace on the Quirinal Hill. The Guard does sentry duty inside these grounds, where King Victor Emmanuel is in Rome and also accompanies him on state occasions, as when he visits the front. The king was going also to the Corso to the tomb of his father in the Pantheon, the anarchist D'Alba fired twice and killed Captain Lang, of the Guard, instead of the king.

Since the war began, although the king lives at the front and undergoes all his dangers, members of the Guard are to be seen now and then walking through the streets of Rome, attending to their duties. The cause of their immense figures and shining helmets, but for all that jealousy of the common soldier, the green-grey uniforms of soldiers on leave from the front trenches.

PAIN? NOT A BIT! LIFT YOUR CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

No humbug! Apply free drops then just lift them away with fingers.

This new drug is an ether compound discovered by a Cincinnati chemist. It is called free corns, and is contained in tiny bottles as here shown at very little cost. It is sold in the capital of $7,000,000, but the real investment includes $7,000,000 of rest or reserve fund for the shareholders. The actual rate of earnings is therefore less than 8.8 per cent. Not all of the profits for the shareholders, since, as already mentioned, an appropriation of $400,000 was made for the shareholders' fund and the officers' pension fund took between them another $120,000. After the payment of the 10 per cent dividend there was left a balance of $16,681 to add to the balance carried forward.

Since the statement of the shareholders' fund of the Merchants Bank increased from $83,120,741 to $140,937,544, and this without any increase in the capital stock or reserve fund. For the time being, owing to the large sums carried in liquid assets in the bank, and also to the constant re-valuation of securities, the profits are not proportionately increased, and it is evident that the return of more normal conditions this expanded business should be very beneficial to the shareholders.

Saskatchewan Hail Insurance Rates

Will Be Four Cents an Acre on All Assessable Land

There will be no change this year in connection with the rates, indemnities payable, or in the policies issued by the hail insurance commissioner of Saskatchewan, according to a statement made at the offices of the commission in Regina. The rate will be four cents an acre on all assessable land with maximum indemnity of $5 an acre. There are 126 municipalities operating under the provisions of the Hail Insurance Act, the same number as last year, and the commission states that it has a reserve of about $50,000.

There will be 19 board companies operating hail insurance in Saskatchewan this season and the rates will be the same as last year, six per cent for cash business and eight per cent for credit policies. There was no considerable discussion some time ago among hail underwriters in regard to advancing the rates, but no action to this end has been taken, except that in the Koshern and Radville districts some of the companies have advanced the rates to 10 and 12 per cent, owing to heavy losses which they have suffered there in the last few years.

Strength of Merchants Bank Is Set Forth in Report

Twenty Millions are Added to Assets and Current Loans

An increase in total assets amounting to almost twenty million dollars was the outstanding feature of the very gratifying report submitted at the annual meeting of the Merchants Bank of Canada on the 14th of June. This increase, which brings the assets of the Bank up to the notable figure of $140,937,544, was produced by an all-round increase in all branches of the Bank's liabilities to the public, note circulation advanced nearly three millions, and non-interest deposits advanced seven and three-quarter millions, and interest-bearing deposits eleven millions, while balances due to banks and correspondents abroad were the largest item to show a decrease. The general expansion was at the exceptional rate of 10 1/2 per cent. for the year. Deposits grew at the rate of over 20 per cent.

Another important feature of the report consists in the extent to which the Bank was successful in its efforts to secure loans and discounts in Canada. Thirteen and a half million dollars approximately were secured in 1918, as against the twelve months ending April 30, and in the speeches at the annual meeting the bank made clear that this expansion was in the main a direct result of the increased valuation of the commodities on which the bank's assets are based. The assets have been rigorously scrutinized, and the sum of $400,000 was appropriated for the making good of any depreciation.

In spite of the expansion in current loans, the proportion of liquid assets to liabilities is still high enough for the most conservative of the bankers. The cash and readily realizable assets now total $57,667,481 against public liabilities amounting to $126,227,671, or in the proportion of 45.6 per cent. About 34 per cent of these liquid assets is in the form of cash, bank balances and call loans. The assets have been largely of government securities of the Dominion, the Provinces and the municipalities, and are held both by its assistance to the current trade and industry of the Dominion and by its assistance to the government finances of Canada and the allies. The Merchants Bank is performing important services towards the Dominion.

Notwithstanding the greatly increased volume of assets, profits continue to be of a very moderate scale. The total net size of the shareholders' investment. The earnings for the year were $1,236,681, or 1.23 per cent on the capital of $7,000,000, but the real investment includes $7,000,000 of rest or reserve fund for the shareholders. The actual rate of earnings is therefore less than 8.8 per cent. Not all of the profits for the shareholders, since, as already mentioned, an appropriation of $400,000 was made for the shareholders' fund and the officers' pension fund took between them another $120,000. After the payment of the 10 per cent dividend there was left a balance of $16,681 to add to the balance carried forward.

Japan Loyal To Allies

No Chance of an Alliance With Germany

There is little present possibility of an alliance between Germany and Japan. Premier Count Teruchi told the Tokyo correspondent of the London Daily Mail in an interview recently.

"I feel very earnestly that under the present circumstances, such a contingency as a German-Japanese alliance is impossible," the Japanese premier told his interviewer, who had broached the subject of such an alliance.

At the same time Count Teruchi believed the Japanese relations with the Germans would remain unaltered. The premier asked to be excused from discussing intervention in Siberia.

The premier said that the Japanese people attached the utmost importance to international loyalty, and he expressed the belief that nothing would lead them to sin against this principle. He added that the Japanese, so far as their observation went, were as loyal to Great Britain now as before the war, and that whatever might be the opinion of the individual, the Japanese as a whole, could never, under existing circumstances, imagine themselves pro-German.

Population of the World

In 1787 the population of the earth according to Bussching, was about 1,000 millions; in 1800, according to Fabri and Stein, only 900 millions; in 1833, according to Stein and Horchmann, 972 millions; in 1858, Dietrich estimated it at 1,266 millions, and Kolb, in 1865 at 1,220 millions. According to the latest figures, the earth is inhabited by 1,400 million human beings.

Thickest Tree in World

It is said the largest tree known in thickness, is a partly decayed chestnut in Sicily, which is 60 feet across. The African cypress and the oriental plane have reached 40 feet. This puts the California redwood tree and the giant sequoia in background, but the big tree is of greater bulk in combined height and girth. The chestnut is thickest in relation to height.

COST OF HIGH LIVING

NOT HIGH COST OF LIVING THAT WE ARE PAYING THESE DAYS, ACCORDING TO MRS. NELLIE MCCLUNG OF EDMONTON

MRS. NELLIE MCCLUNG

"The high cost of living is a misnomer. It should be the 'cost of high living.' We have fallen into easy, lazy ways. By the time we have emerged from the furnace of war, the clear, white sacrificial fire may have purified us, burned away the dross, and prepared us for a purer living and simpler pleasures."

MRS. NELLIE MCCLUNG.

You would naturally look for radical views on the food question from Mrs. Nellie McClung, who is one of Canada's best known women and an ardent champion of feminine rights to boot. She has the habit of seeing ahead of her time and you realize this when you look in her thoughtful, meditative eyes.

She is a bit of a paradox, this breezy Western writer, speaker and reformer. A stiff backbone, a virile manner and argumentative tones contrast the peace and quiet in her eyes. Even in repose you know instinctively that she is a fighter. But such a "square fighter." And, the thread of clarity runs throughout, mingled with the tenderness of a big-hearted woman.

She is more of a specialist in fine thoughts than in dollars and dozens. This is not intended to imply that she is not practical, but Nellie McClung believes in reading people's souls first. The rest follows as a natural consequence. So it is that of the food question she would appeal to the imagination of the people of Canada first. She would remove all sense of injustice. She would have people visualize the suffering of Europe until they could know peace unless they knew they were doing their utmost.

But everyone is not blessed with the imagination of Nellie McClung. When reminded of this by a representative of the food board, Mrs. McClung threw back her head and uttered a fustian and laughed heartily.

Then suddenly she sobered up. "It doesn't take much imagination to see in your mind's eye hungry babies, hungry women or hungry soldiers, does it? Pity some of us did not have a taste of it ourselves! Mighty few of us ever felt the real pinch of hunger, but it's the kind of thing you never forget once you've known it. Anyway, we can all imagine what it is like, and even then we'll fall short of the reality."

"How are you going to show people? To make them believe there are starving people today—house and of them?"

"Education!" rejoined Nellie McClung. "Swamp the country with information until everyone does some thinking. Hammer it home! Only so will you get results."

"In my judgment, the best thing the food board can do is to remove, as far as possible, all inequalities. In war time it is inevitable that some must suffer and sacrifice more than others. But you cannot have the people working wholeheartedly with you if they are suffering from a sense of injustice. This is chiefly why I think compulsion is inadvisable. It would be impossible to rope in the whole country, but if you educate people sufficiently, this should not be necessary."

The farmer's wife has no more ardent champion than Nellie McClung, who knows whereof she speaks when she says "The farmer's wife is a splendid and patriotic citizen, who is working overtime, and who deserves every consideration and help that can be given her. She is a busy woman, a real worker. Now, with the necessity for increased production, she is an essential spoke in the wheel of progress. And what is true of the farmer's wife is still more true of the farmer. In my estimation, he's the next in line to be anathematized him and to rant away about his getting rich on the war. He isn't making as much as city people imagine. He's paying twice as much for things as he used to and if he makes more, it certainly doesn't get him any further."

"The farmer and his wife out West are deeply interested in their national obligation at this time," continued Mrs. McClung. "It is remarkable how they have given

The Submarine Menace

Making the Seas an Inferno for the Pirates

The war at sea, the most vital of all phases of the conflict, is going better for the allies every month. If the destruction of allied and neutral shipping by the action of submarines had continued at the rate of a year ago and the output of new ships had been maintained at last year's level, the old law by the surrender of the allied nations could have been calculated with mathematical accuracy—altogether from that might be the result of the land campaigns.

The present rate of destruction of shipping by the submarine is about 300,000 tons a month; the tendency of the curve is downward owing to the elaborate offensive and defensive operations of the allies, which are making the seas an inferno for the pirates. Against this loss must be put the net tonnage which is being put out from shipyards all over the sea. Charles M. Schwab, director-general of the emergency fleet corporation, recently authorized the statement that from April 20 to May 20 the shipyards of the United States had delivered for service 300,000 tons—which will be noted, just cancelled the estimated tonnage lost for the same period, leaving the net tonnage for the month from British, Canadian, Japanese and other yards in a clear margin to the good.

Mr. Schwab, who is a great industrial captain, not given to rash talking, has announced a beginning in the 1, the shipyards of the United States will average 16,000 tons a day—the equivalent of 5,000,000 tons a year. If these estimates are even approximately fulfilled it is evident that the work of the submarine menace over, unless the Germans can bring new factors into play which will increase the effectiveness of their campaign. Unless the submarines held, the food problem for the allies becomes a matter of production on the land, and the distribution over there. There are difficulties here, but they are much less formidable than those which have already been surmounted—Winnipeg Free Press.

How the Profiteers Operate

A Concrete Example of the Way Prices are Jammed Up

An instance of how the food profiteers manipulate was afforded recently in connection with the order prohibiting the importation of wheat into Canada from the United States. Before the embargo was put on minimum prices in various parts of the country were selling wheat at 16½ and 17½ cents. As soon as it became known no further stocks were to be imported, the price of wheat rose to 22 cents per bushel. Then, whimsically, she rushed into a cullery of the fish propaganda of the food board. She had seen the results of it in the west and she thinks this business of eating fish, not only on Fridays, but every day in the week, is food conservation of the most practical kind, as well as being beneficial to the health of the people.

"Our chief difficulty in the west," observed Mrs. McClung, "is to realize that there is an actual shortage of wheat. You see, out there we are so used to this precious grain. We talk wheat and think wheat all the time. There is so much of it around us that it is very hard to feel convinced that there could be a scarcity of it anywhere. We are gradually learning that this viewpoint is out of date, and that every kernel of wheat is infinitely precious."

Boys and Girls' War Gardens

Associations in Saskatchewan Showing a Great Deal of Interest

The various greater production and food conservation associations in Saskatchewan are showing a great deal of interest in the work of boys and girls in their gardens.

In a number of towns special prizes are being offered to boys and girls who successfully operate a war garden. Among the local associations doing this is that at Yorkton, special prizes being offered to boys and girls under fourteen years of age. This association offers a wrist watch, a pair of boots and a baseball cap to the boy under fourteen with the best garden, and a wrist watch, a pair of boots and tennis racket to the girl under fourteen with the best garden. The prizes are to be awarded for the most potatoes, early cabbages, beans, sweet corn, and carrots grown on a plot of 500 square feet within the limits of the town of Yorkton. Half the plot must be planted to potatoes and the balance equally to beans, turnips and cabbages. The boy or girl must take entire charge and do all the work in connection with the vegetables grown on the plot, except the digging or plowing.

Germany's Closed Factories

Figures Show How Business Has Dropped Off in Enemy Country

Out of 1,700 spinning and weaving mills in Germany only 70 are still running at high pressure, according to figures recently published. In the boot and shoe industry 1,400 factories have been amalgamated into 300.

In the oil industry 15 factories working at high pressure, have been formed out of 720 works previously existing.

In the silk industry the number of spindles have been reduced from 45,000 to 2,500.

Voluntary Rationing System

At a meeting in Toronto Mr. H. B. Thorne, secretary of the Canadian food board, said that a voluntary rationing system would be introduced in Canada, a committee in each province settling the scale of rationing.

Britain's Achievement

Has Demonstrated Superiority to Other Nations in Political Good Sense During War

During the last four years the war has subjected the stamina of the chief belligerents to a succession of unforeseen and pitiless setbacks. In the case of several of them the very life of their nation lives is being pulled to pieces, and in the case of all of them many parts of the national organization are proving more or less inadequate and untrustworthy. Great Britain has suffered from the great variety of other of the faults which the dominant public opinion has allowed to remain in the national structure have caused serious anxiety, but on the whole the fabric of British nationalism is standing the strain better than is that of any of her enemies or her allies. The British nation has not shown any superiority over France or Germany in its moral endurance, its ability to take and inflict punishment, or in its courage and sangfroid. It has not shown any superiority in the mastery of military technique. But what it has done is to demonstrate once again its superiority over other nations in political good sense. The British still keep and still display the political gifts which the original founders of parliamentary government, the most successful exemplars of opportunity, liberalism and the rule of law, the first empire which has not provided to be the enemy of civil and political liberty.

The political good sense of the British people has been expressed chiefly in their ability to reorganize and to repair even during the prosecution of the war some of the greatest faults in their national organization. They have not made of the war the excuse for doing things in a haphazard way, but they have shown a more candid, painstaking consideration upon the fulfilment of their collective social responsibilities during the war, and they have been able almost to agree upon many immediate and future steps for the reconstruction of the British Empire. The British have recognized the indispensable nature of the social and political social reorganization could furnish to the enduring moral unity of the nation; and the recognition that the British people, as well as its immediate practical significance. They have gained enormously in intellectual and moral strength. They are mutually adjusting themselves to the certainty of radical alterations in the balance of social forces, and many of them are assiduously studying how these changes can be controlled and guided for the benefit of the British Empire. ## Issue Under Difficulties

From the European Edition of the New York Herald

The Union Republica de la Marine, in a recent issue, contained the following: "To our readers: We have no need to make excuses to our readers for the issue which we are publishing. It is our duty to publish it. Our object in publishing our paper, despite everything, is not to furnish the public with a newspaper, but to furnish the public with a newspaper. It is the point at which profiteering starts, and the food control board should get busy protecting the people. —Pictou Advance."

Shells of Long Range Gun

Weights 200 Pounds and Contains Less Than Twenty Pounds of Explosives

The calibre of the shells that are fired into Paris by the German long-range guns is 8.88 inches and the length of the shell is twenty inches. The shells are fired from a gun of the same name, states the Canadian newspaper, states. The shell weighs 200 pounds, and contains less than twenty pounds of explosives. The shells are fired from a gun of the same name, states the Canadian newspaper, states. The shell weighs 200 pounds, and contains less than twenty pounds of explosives.

These facts are accepted as an explanation of the two explosions which on occasion of the last night, succeeded, and which led to the belief that two guns were firing.

Self Punishment for Kicking Horse

It is not all pleasant to own a horse that kicks at the sides of his manger. The following method has been tried and invariably cured the habit. The horse is given a chain eight or ten inches long is fastened by means of a leather band to the leg of the manger. The band is fastened at or just above the knee. When the horse kicks the chain wraps itself around the leg and the animal begins to realize that there is some relation between his kicking and the pain. It may be necessary to discipline both legs before the habit is broken. —E.V.L. in Successful Farming.

Restricting Importations

Order Prohibits Many Articles in Common Use

Sporting goods, works of art, jewelry, toilet preparations and certain vegetables, and fruits, all come under the order of the council, passed to restrict the importation of luxuries. The order in council provides that the goods coming under the order may be imported only on license issued by the minister of customs, on the recommendation of the war trade board. It cites a long list of articles classed as non-essential in war time.

Among them in sporting goods are: Billiard tables and cues, pleasure boats, skiffs and canoes, sporting guns and rifles and the ammunition therefor; game bags and cartridge bags; skates of all kinds; pistols, revolvers and other firearms except for war purposes, and fishing rods.

Among fruits are included: Almonds, shelled and unshelled; pecans; chestnuts; unshelled walnuts and other unshelled nuts. Mentioned in the list also are: Blackberries, raspberries, cherries, strawberries, cranberries, currants and grapes. In green fruits: Peaches, plums, quinces, apricots, pears and apples.

In the vegetables are: Sugar beets and fresh tomatoes. Canned fruits and nuts are included with sweetened breads, pies, cakes, and puddings, containing sugar, flavoured syrups, fruit juices, time and fruit juices. Automobiles valued at $1,200 and upwards, f.o.b. at place of manufacture.

Paintings, photographs, oleographs and perfumery preparations for the hair, mouth or skin when imported, except as specified.

Manufactures of gold and silver, electro-plate and sterling, manufactures of marble.

British Army Not Invited

Austrian Paper Now Realizes That Britain Is Down to Business

When the war began we did not reckon with the British army. The central powers took into calculation her colossal battle fleet but no one dreamed of the possibility of British toughness and the same spirit of self-sacrifice as in her great war against Louis XIV. and Napoleon. The British army is now on a par with no sacrifice is too great for him, no price too high to attain his object. The British army is now on a par with no sacrifice is too great for him, no price too high to attain his object. The British army is now on a par with no sacrifice is too great for him, no price too high to attain his object.

A Rich Legacy for Posterity

The New Values that the Moment Has Brrought to the Future

But memory for the future is not to discover the new values that the moment has for the future. Whatever the great changes of the past have brought to men now, the present days are leaving their legacy for the future. Memory does not reduce the present in value; it reads into it a new dignity and awfulness. It tells us that we are always greater than we are. At the time of the moment, we are not greater than we are. At the time of the moment, we are not greater than we are. At the time of the moment, we are not greater than we are.

When You Buy Potatoes

Bag Must Weigh Ninety Pounds Under Inspection and Sale Act

Under the Dominion inspection and sale act as amended in 1914, a bushel of potatoes must weigh 60 pounds; a peck must weigh 15 pounds; and a gallon 7½ pounds. A bag of potatoes must weigh 90 pounds, and a barrel must contain 180 pounds. This applies also in Quebec where a bag now is legally 90 pounds, although 80 pounds was formerly the legal weight in that province. Any person who buys a bag of potatoes and receives less than 90 pounds, or who sells potatoes in violation of the act—for the first offence, a fine not exceeding $25 and for each subsequent offence a fine not less than $50, with imprisonment in default of payment.

Sets Nest Egg With Garden Seeds

Mrs. J. A. Angrave, Gard. Cal, sets a nest egg with her garden seeds. The garden seeds are given to the national war garden commission, explaining her nest egg planting. She plants certain seeds in bags to give them an early start and plants in an egg shell, buried in the soil. The egg shell, she says, furnishes valuable organic fertilizer to the tender sprouts.

Some Plain Facts For America

Has Got To Throw Himself Into War With Desperate Energy

It is a wholesome and awakening thing to look possibilities straight in the face. The issue has been decided. A speaker the other night in an effort to cheer his audience told them what he goes after.

"We cannot lose this war, because God with one man is a majority. They may break the British line, but they can never break the British spirit. And they have Uncle Sam to reckon with and Uncle Sam is a sure optimist who will not let us get what he goes after. We have had a lot of that kind of talk—too much of it. We are not the American people were told bluntly that we can lose this war."

We have lost it in the East. We have been within hours of losing it in the West.

Victory or defeat is now a matter of more or less time. The war has been stripped of all but the bare fighting factor on a single front in the last two years.

If we are not to lose the war, we must have more guns, more shells, more torpedoes, more submarines, more aircraft, more everything. The war is now a matter of more or less time. The war has been stripped of all but the bare fighting factor on a single front in the last two years.

Let us not even comfort ourselves with the thought that God will let us be defeated. God has a strange way of letting well-intentioned people suffer if they good intentions are not matched by their actions.

America has got to throw herself into the war with the desperate energy of a nation conscious that every moment counts. It is a moment when we can make a difference.

Germany can win; we can lose this war. This is not pessimism; it is sobering fact. Recognize it, and then take courage from the one reflection that the war is not yet lost. We can win it if we will.—From the Chicago Evening Post.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Military Service Act, 1917.

Men 19 and 20 Years of Age.

Harvest Leave.

Leave of Absence on Ground of Extreme Hardship.
Procedure to obtain Leave of Absence.

Men Nineteen and Twenty Years of Age.

It has come to the attention of the Government that there is a widespread impression that young men of nineteen years, and those who became twenty since October 13, 1917, as well as those who may become nineteen from time to time and who have been or will be called upon to register under the Military Service Act, are to be immediately called to the colours.

This impression is quite incorrect. No date has yet been fixed for calling upon such men to so report for duty, nor has the question been brought before the Cabinet for decision. In view of the need of labour on the farm, it is most unlikely that consideration will be given to the matter until after the harvest is over, although of course the Government's action must be determined primarily by the military situation.

There is no further obligation incumbent upon young men of the ages above mentioned who have registered or who do so hereafter, until they receive notice from the Registrars.

Harvest Leave.

Some enquiries have been received as to the possibility of granting harvest leave to such troops as may be in the country at that time. No definite assurance can be given on this point as advantages must be taken of ships as they become available. On the other hand, harvest leave will be given if at all possible.

Leave of Absence on Grounds of Extreme Hardship.

It is desired that the Regulations respecting leave of absence in cases of hardship should be widely known and fully understood. Such leave will be granted in two cases:— (a) where extreme hardship arises by reason of the fact that the man concerned is either the only son capable of earning a livelihood, of a father killed or disabled on service or presently in service overseas, or in training for such service, or under treatment after returning from overseas; or the only remaining of two or more brothers capable of earning a livelihood (the other brother or brothers having been killed or disabled on service, or being presently in service overseas, or in training for overseas or under treatment after his or their return from overseas); brothers married before 4th August, 1914, living in separate establishments and having a child or children not to be counted, in determining the fact that the man is the "only" remaining son or brother; (b) where extreme hardship arises by reason of exceptional circumstances such as the fact that the man concerned is the sole support of a widowed mother, an invalid father or other helpless dependants.

It is to be noted that in all these cases the governing factor is not hardship, loss or suffering to the individual concerned, but to others, that is, members of his family or those depending upon him.

Procedure to obtain leave of absence.

A simple system for dealing with these cases has been adopted. Forms of application have been supplied to every Depot Battalion and an officer of each battalion has been detailed whose duty it is to give them immediate attention. The man concerned should on reporting to his unit state that he desires to apply for leave of absence on one or more of the grounds mentioned and his application form will then be filled out and forwarded to Militia Headquarters, Ottawa. In the meantime, if the case appears meritorious, the man will be given provisional leave of absence for thirty days so that he may return home and continue his civil occupation while his case is being finally disposed of.

ISSUED BY DEPARTMENT OF MILITIA AND DEFENCE,
DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

The TRAIL BLAZER

From the standpoint of dollar for dollar value there's not a car made which offers more for your money than the famous Chevrolet Four-Ninety A.
Before the Chevrolet was made in Canada, good cars were all high in price.
But our automobile production and manufacturing efficiency enables us to sell the Chevrolet Four-Ninety A at a price much lower than its value when compared with other makes of cars.
With the engine power developed by the famous Chevrolet brand motor the owner of a Four-Ninety A inevitably is the "trail blazer".
Standard equipment includes speedometer, electric starting and lighting, radiator, oil indicator light equipment, one man tire, detachable chain, non-skid tires on rear wheels and many features usually looked for in cars much higher in price.

SUPREME ALLIED WAR COUNCIL IS CONFIDENT OF ULTIMATE SUCCESS

ALLIED ARMIES DISPLAY STEADFAST COURAGE

Are Resolute in the Determination Not To Sacrifice a Single One Of the Free Nations Of The World To The Despotism Of Kaiserism

The supreme war council, which has had under advisement the entire war situation, has expressed in an official statement much public confidence in the outcome of the war with the aid of the American forces. Complete confidence in General Foch is also expressed, and thanks are extended to President Wilson for his co-operation in the United States can bring the full American troops.

"The supreme war council held its sixth session under circumstances of great gravity for the alliance of free peoples," says the statement. "The German government, relieved of all pressure on the eastern front by the collapse of the Russian armies and people, has concentrated all its effort in the west. It is now seeking to gain a decision in Europe by a series of desperate and costly assaults upon the allied front before the United States can bring its full strength effectively to bear."

"The advantage it possesses in its strategic position and in its railway facilities has enabled the enemy command to gain some initial success. It will undoubtedly renew its attacks, and the allied nations may be still exposed to critical days."

"After a review of the whole position, the supreme war council is convinced that the allies, bearing the trials of the forthcoming campaign with the same fortitude as they have ever exhibited in defence of the right, will baffle the enemy's purpose and in due course bring him to the point where the only possible line of defence is being done to sustain and support the armies in the field. The arrangements for the campaign have greatly improved the position of the allied armies and are working smoothly and with success. The supreme war council has complete confidence in General Foch. It regards with pride and admiration the valor of the allied troops."

"Thanks to the prompt and cordial co-operation of the president of the United States, it is now possible that within two months ago for the transportation and brigading of the allied troops will make it possible for the enemy to gain victory by wearing out the allied reserve before he has exhausted his."

"The supreme war council is confident of the ultimate result, and the allied peoples are resolute to sacrifice a single one of the free nations of the world to the despotism of Berlin. Their armies are displaying the same steadfast courage which has enabled them on many previous occasions to defeat a German onset. They are determined with faith and patience to the end to make victory for freedom secure."

"The free peoples and their magnificent soldiers will save civilization."

Hail Losses

Saskatchewan's Experience Better in 1917 Than in 1916

Losses paid last year by the Saskatchewan Municipal Hail Insurance Association amounted to $82,362, as compared with losses of $35,507 in 1916, of which $10,000 was 40 per cent, or $1,460,296 was paid. Administration costs were $36,590 in 1917 and $39,468 in 1916. The 1917 revenue was $93,797 or about $50,000 less than in the previous year. Losses were comparatively light until after the middle of August, when a heavy storm swept over the central section of the province.

At a convention held by the Insurance Association held in Moose Jaw last month, motions to increase the rate from four to five cents per acre were defeated, but the association did adopt the flat rate of four cents per acre, but under an automatic seeded acreage rate. Under the latter scheme all municipalities will come under the Municipal Hail Insurance Act, but any farmer may withdraw upon giving notice to the secretary-treasurer of the municipality prior to June 1 in any year.

At the convention, E. G. Hingley, secretary of the association, is reported to have admitted that the system of municipal hail insurance at present in use was not a real insurance but merely a pooling of funds from which claims were paid, providing there was sufficient money on hand and that it is impossible to guarantee complete insurance for the present flat rate.

Canada Saving Wheat

Review of Some of the Measures Taken to Provide Supplies For Our Allies

All Canadian flour mills are now producing 196 pounds (barrel) of flour from 258 pounds of wheat. Manufacture of patent flour of division of patents is prohibited. In the United States the mills are using 264 pounds of wheat to produce a barrel of flour. The supply of available substitutes has been greater there than in Canada and persons have been required to buy substitutes to an equal weight of the wheat flour which they purchase.

A result of arrangements made by the Canada food board, Canadian mills are now using 8,000 bushels of corn per day in the manufacture of flour. The capacity of the mills for grinding corn is being rapidly increased, and is very soon expected to reach 20,000 bushels per day.

Manufacture in Canada of farina (or Cream of Wheat) has been prohibited. Manufacturers of breakfast foods and cereals and other food products formerly consisted largely of wheat, have been obliged to substitute other cereals and largely to curtail their use of wheat. The sale of wheat or flour for feed has been prohibited. The use of wheat in making candy has been prohibited.

All the bakers in Canada are now required to use the Canadian food board, and their use of wheat flour is being controlled. Persons manufacturing cakes or other sweet products, biscuits, etc., are required to use at least 20 per cent of substitutes for wheat flour. In the case of soda biscuits at least 10 per cent of substitutes must be used.

Canada is saving bread and other food products by strict compulsory regulations, applicable to all public places. Many hotels, restaurants, etc., have gone further than is required by the regulations and are using substitutes for wheat flour to the greatest possible extent.

A far-reaching educational campaign for decreased consumption of wheat and wheat products has been carried on. This has included a campaign for increased use of vegetables in order to save wheat.

Holdings of flour have been strictly limited, and persons having in their possession larger quantities than are permitted by the Canada food board order are liable to suffer heavy penalties to return such excess.

Huns Caught In Their Own Trap

They Mistook Own Aviators for a British Patrol

This is the story of a battle raged in the air between two flights of German fighters, one of which was an unintentional but disastrous fight between brother aviators during which British pilots joyfully and unhesitatingly rendered aid to the one side, then to the other, until so many of the emperor's machines and bodies were destroyed that the conflict could not continue.

It was on June 5 that the extraordinary engagement occurred and it began thus:

Two British officers in a fighting machine were leading a patrol along the lines when they sighted a German Halberstadt two-seater, which, on their appearance, fired a green signal light. The leaders expected a trap and waited to see what this unusual performance meant. In a short time, six German scouts dived out of the sun into their comrades, whom they apparently mistook for a British patrol about to attack. What happened was done.

The Halberstadt had been acting as a decoy, and the green light had been meant as a signal for assistance, but there had been no expectation that two flights of German planes would respond at the same time.

"Not being able to distinguish the marking of their friends—and this has happened not infrequently before the newscasters began to write about it—the British leaders then guided their patrol into the melee and took a hand."

At first the German Halberstadt was the first victim, and this was shot down by the British commanding machine. Another British fighter, in the meantime, had accounted for two more enemy scouts, which were sent swirling to destruction below. All the time the German aircraft were continuing their bitter battle among themselves, and several of them were seen to go down out of control before the engagement finally ended. The British leaders, by their good judgment had led the Huns into their own trap.

Unlicensed Eating Houses Illegal

On and after Saturday, June 1st, it becomes illegal for restaurants, cafes or other places where food is served to remain in business unless they have a license from the Canada food board. This applies also to boarding houses serving twenty-four meals per day to outsiders, other than the household or members of the family.

Gathering Up the Scraps of War

Often Enough, Work Has to Be Carried on Under a Terrific Bombardment

Upon the terrible fields of war, there is nothing, aside from the waste of human life, that produces a more painful impression on the casual person who is allowed to wander over a battlefield just after an attack than the great quantities of material that lie scattered about with seemingly reckless profusion.

All this material was made through long hours of sweat and labor and had to be used in saving the country, and here it all is lying in great quantities unused about the battlefield, having fulfilled its purpose and having served no end.

But it is not now all lost, as it was up to a few months ago, when the troops passed forward in an attack that a second, usually of aged territorialists followed it on to the battlefield and begins the cleaning up process.

Sometimes their companions call them the "rag pickers of the army" and sometimes the "divers for spoils" but in the present official organization of the armies they rank highly important corps.

Their work too is often dangerous as that of the troops who dash to the assault, as not only have they to handle abandoned explosives of the most perilous kind to touch, but often enough their work has to be carried on under a terrific bombardment.

But they do it as heroically, as stoically and as methodically as do their brother territorialists who carry the hot soup up to the fighting line through a barrage of machine gun fire, shrapnel and high explosives.

They are the men who pick up the batteries and trench mortars had to abandon as they dashed to the assault. They are the men of half a dozen or more and sometimes scattered singly about.

But every one is exceedingly valuable for the men of which it is made, for the skill and genius that has gone into the construction of it, and the fact that it is a machine. Less delicate than trench bombs and aerial torpedoes are likewise gathered up.

Most dangerous are the unexploded German shells which lie scattered about. They may explode at a moment's notice, and they may be gathered up both for the removal of such a menace and for the value of the material they contain.

Then come the hand grenades. They may have been dropped by the "poil" as he dashed forward to the assault. Or again they may be unexploded ones, either a charge may have been set off at the first touch, but they must be gathered up.

Even when the helmets themselves are riddled with bullets and shell splinters the steel they contain is still of value. Behind the line on every battlefield hundreds of thousands of rifle cartridges, both exploded and unexploded, are gathered up one at a time, often under a heavy artillery fire.

Even when the bayonets or rifles that the soldier may have been forced to abandon or that fell from his nerveless hand, he is called upon to pick up the matter how they came to be there they must be saved.

"After this come the knapsacks, the caps, the coats, the overcoats, the trousers and all different things that the soldier may have dropped or which have dashed forward in a welter where no attention can be paid to anything except to attain his object as fast as possible."

Were on the Road
A priest in a West Tipperary village sent a pair of boots to the cobbler for repairs, but Bill, who had been imbibing rather freely, felt inclination for work, so the boots were not touched that day. Next morning, the priest, who was rather stout and longed for a hair of the dog that bit him. His boots were rather dirty, so he thought they might serve no harm in putting on priests, which he accordingly did, and turned off into the village pub, to get a "renewal." He had not gone very far when word did him meet but the priest, who said: "I sent my boots for repairs, but you've not finished with them, yet?" "No, your reverence," answered Bill calmly, "they're not mended yet, but they're on the road."

Long Range Guns

Shown to U. S. General Early in 1914 by Bertha Krupp When Visiting Essen

The Daily Chronicle's Paris correspondent says that the long range cannon with which the Germans are bombarding Paris, were invented by a man named Bertha Krupp, who was shown to an American general early in 1914, by Frau Bertha Krupp von Dillenburg, (the wife of the late Bertha Krupp works, Essen). "The gun," says the report, "was shown to the American when he visited Essen on an official mission. He had been taken all through the vast Krupp works escorted by a swarm of technical experts and was about to retire when Frau Bertha dismissed all the party except two confidential prisoners of the firm, and the latter conducted the general to a secret room."

"Here the visitor's attention was attracted by two immense cannons with extremely long tubes and of relatively small diameter. Frau Bertha said in excellent English, 'These are the guns you ought to order for the Panama Canal defence.' They carried ninety miles are guaranteed and cost $240,000 each. Of course, these are only trial guns and they cannot fire more than 20 shells without being repaired. But you can appreciate the intangibility results which will be obtained by the nation that first employs such guns."

On the Run

The Bravery of a North of England Battalion in Its First Engagement

Proof of cool intrepidity of the bravery with which a north of England battalion in their trench work after an engagement where the enemy's position was full of difficulties and charged the enemy is shown by a letter from another battalion in a letter home. He says:

"You will be interested to hear that the boys were fighting on our left on Saturday, and after I was wounded I hid down and watched them. They did very well, and although this was their first fight I am afraid they suffered rather heavily as my regiment was about the hottest fight I have ever been in, and you know I have been in a good few. I was caught in the neck by a splinter of a shell after it had struck the ground."

"There were all sorts of Germans. Some looked quite 60 and others only 15 to 18 years of age. We lost a lot of men, but the Germans lost as many again. We were as good as the enemy in the trench, but we threw bombs as fast as we could to keep the enemy from us, and in the end they were running away. I hope they are running still."

French Confidence in 'Tommy'

Not once from the beginning of the German onslaught has the confidence of the French people in the ability of the British army to stand off all odds wavered. They understand the characteristics of 'Tommy' (the British soldier) and they are sure of their own people. "Now we shall see the British soldiers at their best—with the odds against them, and when the outlook seems unfavorable," was the general comment. "The Boche is going to pay through the nose for nothing." Their confidence was not jarred even by the long-range bombardment of their capital—Victoria, B. C., Times.

"SERVICE!"

"Service" is the inside of business. "Service" means more than anything else in a business house; the better the service the greater the business.

In our estimation "Service" means—"Everything that a customer reasonably has a right to expect when he sends an order." It means that we have got to treat his order right every inch of the way. "Service" means the winning of confidence by truthful advertising; the expeditious yet painstaking attention to even the minutest wants of the customer; the delivery of goods in the least possible time and in the best possible condition.

"Service" means honor, reputation, standing, courtesy, wholesomeness and every other thing that you think it ought to mean. That is what we mean by

MONEY TO LOAN

Oslar, Hammond and Nanton, general agents for North of Scotland and other Mortgage Companies have $30,000.00 invested in farm loans in the West, the returns from which they re-invest in the same way. They have lots of money now. Their inspector, Mr. Stickney, who was in the district a few days ago, says "They have barrels of money, and that no good loan will be refused." Let them renew the loan you have on your homestead, and give you more on your pre-emption, give you money to prove it up if you wish. Or let them give you a new loan, as large, and probably larger, than you can get elsewhere. The district needs all the money we can get hold of in this way. Pay up your indebtedness to the bank, to the municipality, to the school, and to others. We can furnish the money. Loans for five years, repayable in three years, without extra charge. Interest at 8 per cent.—nothing but the interest to pay each year.
